

2017 Adult Siblings
Project Survey

Adult siblings identified as:

Majority of adult siblings were not the primary carer of their sibling:

18%
of adult siblings are primary carers.

82%
of adult siblings are non-primary carers.

76%
of adult siblings report below average wellbeing.

Approximately 54% of non-primary carers were still involved in conversations about planning for their siblings' future in some capacity.

Main issues and concerns raised by siblings were:

 General lack of support, information, and access to services tailored for adult siblings.	 Ageing parents and taking on the full-time caring role of their sibling when their parent is no longer able.
Social isolation – maintaining their own identity on top of caring for their sibling. 	Planning for the future of their sibling. more than 50% of siblings were unaware of any existing supports that specifically targeted siblings.
