

Masterclass for researchers: Enhancing engagement with carers

Researchers with an interest in the experiences of family and friend carers are invited to a free Carer Knowledge Exchange masterclass on enhancing engagement with carers throughout the research process.

This two-part, in-person event is co-designed and co-delivered with carers and aims to enhance carers' research participation and support researchers to successfully involve carers in all phases of their work.

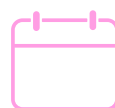

Hear from carers and researchers about the implications of research participation for carers and what should be considered before, during and after engaging carers in the research process.
